Colorado League of Charter Schools

Dear School Leaders, Supporters, and Advocates,

With Election Day on Tuesday, November 3, we want to encourage you to make your voice heard.

Elected leaders' decisions and voters' choices at the ballot box directly affect our schools, from funding to the opportunities available to students and families. Charter school parents, educators, and leaders bring valuable perspectives to these decisions. Your experience matters, and your participation helps shape Colorado's public education future.

Voting Information

Whatever your views on the issues, we encourage you to take time to get informed and make a plan to vote. Colorado's 2026 Blue Book provides nonpartisan information about the fourteen statewide ballot measures. GoVoteColorado.gov can help you check your registration and find ballot drop boxes and voting locations.

You can still register and vote through Election Day. While the deadline to register and receive a ballot by mail has passed, eligible Coloradans can register and vote in person at a Voter Service and Polling Center in their county through Tuesday, November 3. You can register and cast your ballot during the same visit.

If you haven't returned your ballot yet, please take it to an official drop box or voter center. The recommended mailing deadline has passed. Ballots must be received by 7 p.m. on Election Day, Tuesday, November 3. If you vote in-person, you must be in line by 7 p.m.

Prop NN

As we shared in our last update, the Colorado League of Charter Schools' Board of Directors voted to support Proposition NN. Our support reflects a straightforward principle: Charter school students are public school students. They deserve access to the resources that help schools retain strong teachers and expand opportunities for learning.

Proposition NN would allow Colorado to retain more of the tax revenue it already collects, providing additional funding for teacher pay and retention, smaller class sizes, and career and technical courses. The League worked last legislative session to ensure charter schools are included in these funding distributions. Our support reflects a commitment to stronger resources for public education, including charter school students, with transparency about how those dollars are spent.

Post-Election Debrief

Please join us on Monday, November 9, from noon to 12:45 p.m. for a post-election debrief. We'll share key takeaways from the results and discuss what they could mean for Colorado's charter schools, students, and families.

Register

Thank you for everything you do for Colorado's students and families. Your participation matters, and together, the charter community can make its voice heard this election and in the work ahead.

Warmly,

The League Advocacy Team
